Dear Janna

Many thanks for your very kind donation of a beautiful bouquet of flowers for a raffle prize for our May Ball held at the Mount Murray on Saturday 11th May. It was an excellent night and we raised just over £17,000 which is a fantastic. Katie Melua also announced on the night that she has become a joint Patron for Manx Cancer Help with her Husband James Toseland.

2013 sees the 30th year of Manx Cancer Help and this is a huge milestone for us. The charity has grown so much over the last 30 years, but we still strive to provide the service that this charity was built on and build on the core values that we are known for.

Manx Cancer Help is about empowering people to live with, through and beyond cancer by bringing together professional help in the form of our specialised counsellors, communities of support and a unique environment to create exceptional care. We are based in Cronkbourne, at The Lisa Lowe Centre. This is a unique centre on the Isle of Man and our visitors tell us the welcome they receive at is what they appreciate the most and that just walking through the door puts them at ease. We are so proud of our building and, funding allowing, will continue its development.

In 2008 we established the Island's only Psycho-oncology service. Over the past 5 years it has evolved into a comprehensive service which provides Level 1 to Level 4 support in accordance with NICE recommendations. All of the money raised by Manx Cancer Help is used locally, to help anyone on the Isle of Man who has been affected by cancer. We receive no government funding, making every donation that we receive all the more vital.

Many thanks again for your very kind donation and support to Manx Cancer Help.

Yours sincerely
