PACKAGING MADE FROM PLANTS

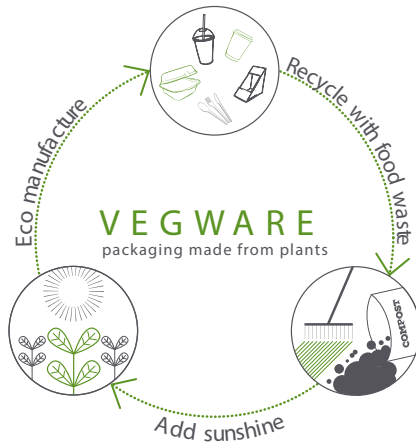

Bidfood has partnered with Vegware to offer a full range of sustainable catering disposables.

Vegware's packaging is made from plants, not plastic, providing a low-carbon, annually renewable alternative to standard disposables.

You can't recycle food with plastic in it, and you can't recycle plastic with food on it. As a result, almost all food packaging ends up in landfill or incineration.

It's compostable, which means it is designed to be commercially recycled with food waste. Microbes, heat and moisture break down Vegware to produce high-quality compost.

Vegware's Environmental team works with the waste sector to find the best solution for recycling your compostable packaging. Contact us to find out more about the environmental support we offer.
